This is a very quick guide to setup Drupal Commerce order confirmation emails using Commerce_Message as there seems to be a lack of knowledge regarding this modules capabilities.

The various admin paths you should be looking at:

Edit the commerce_message order confirmation email [Commerce_message already installed]:

admin/structure/messages/manage/commerce_order_order_confirmation

You can clone this message and edit the clone as required or just edit it directly Commerce_message provide its own versions of the Drupal Commerce tokens. e.g.

[message:message-commerce-order:commerce-customer-billing:commerce_customer_address].
Look at the bottom of the confirmation order message edit page for the very long list of commerce_message tokens.

Edit the commerce_message order confirmation email rule [rules already installed]:

admin/config/workflow/rules

search for the rule rules_commerce_order_message_order_notification

You can clone this rule and edit the clone as required or just edit it directly.

Options include selecting which commerce_message order confirmation email version you want sent.
Which recipient email address including the admin address you want the order confirmation sent to.

Edit the HTML mail setup [HTMLmail module already installed]:

admin/config/system/htmlmail

If you want to send HTML emails and do some processing on the email.

Edit the mail setup[mailsystem module already installed]:

admin/config/system/mailsystem

maybe you dont need to but you should look here to set HTMLmail as a default if needed.

Additional knowledge required:

Token replacement to configure commerce_message emails.

Configuring of a custom text filter for the order confirmation emails.

How to setup the Drupal mail system.

The setup of a HTMLmail template file for targeting commerce_message emails.

How to configure rules.

› Colorbox - Adding a hyperlink to the photo's caption › Create a REALLY easy lightbox image gallery in way under 10 minutes. Seriously. ›
